The castle of Chambord represents the ambition of the most famous king of the Renaissance and patron of Leonardo da Vinci: Francis I. Although the castle was built after the death of the master, can't we detect an influence of this great genius in the architecture of this monument? We invite you to dive into the heart of the sixteenth century and lift the veil on the mysteries of the castle of Chambord.

The castle of Amboise has welcomed many kings and queens of France but it also preserves an invaluable treasure: the tomb of Leonardo da Vinci. Why is he buried in Saint Hubert's Chapel? You will know it by listening to the small stories that make the grandeur of this unique castle.

To celebrate this 500th anniversary with dignity and finish your journey in the footsteps of Leonardo da Vinci, the Relais de Chambord invites you to push the door of its last home: the castle of Clos Lucé. How and why did he occupy this site? Did Leonardo da Vinci really die in the arms of Francis I?

To answer these questions, we suggest you to book a unique and unusual guided tour with a costumed guide (subject to availability): Barbara Visites Guidées aka Marguerite de Blesense.

 Costumed visit to the Château d'Amboise and Clos Lucé only. Transfers not included.*
